III. READING (2.5 p)

Read the passage and choose the best answer to complete the blank. (1.25p)

The people of Kiribati are afraid that one day in the not-too-distant future, their country will disappear... (1)... the face of the earth literally. Several times this year, the Pacific island nation has been flooded by a sudden high tide. These tides, which swept across the island and destroyed houses, came when there was neither wind... (2)... rain. "This never happened before," say the older citizens of Kiribati.

What is causing these mysterious high tides? The answer may well be global warming. When fuels like oil and coal are being burned, pollutants are released; these pollutants... (3)... heat in the earth's atmosphere. Warmer temperatures cause water to expand and also create more water by melting glaciers and polar ice caps.

If the trend continues, scientists say, many countries... (4)... Bangladesh, for example, might lose one-fifth of its land. The coral island nations of the Pacific, like Kiribati and the Marshall Islands, however, would face an even worse fate. They would be swallowed by the sea. The loss of these coral islands would be everyone's loss. Coral formations are... (5)... to more species than any other place on earth.

Read the passage and complete the questions and the answers (1.25p)

Distant education is a rapidly developing approach to instructions throughout the business. The approach has been widely used in business, industrial and medical organizations. For many years, doctors, veterinarians, pharmacists, engineers and lawyers have used it to continue their professional education. Recently, academic instructions have been using distant education to reach a more diverse and geographically disperse audience not accessible through traditional classroom instructions.

The distinguishing characteristic of distant education is the separation of the instructor and students during the learning process. The communication of the subject matter is primarily to individuals rather than groups. As a consequence, the course content must be delivered by instructional media.

The media may be primarily printed, as in the case of traditional correspondence course. Audiocassettes, videotapes, videodiscs, computer-based instructions and interactive video courses can be sent to individual students. In addition, radio, broadcast television, telelectures, and teleconferences are utilized for "live" distant education. The latter two delivery systems allow for interactive instructions between the instructor and students.

1. According to the passage, distant education is suitable for.....

A. All kinds of students who need more training to become doctors, veterinarians, pharmacists, engineers and lawyers.

B. Students who need instructors

C. On- the- job people who need to have more training to serve professional education

D. Every one because it is another form of traditional classroom instructions throughout business.

2. The individuals who take part in distant education are often.....

A. Too busy to participate in the evening classes

B. Unable to access classroom-based education

C. Able to participate in classroom-based in their free time

D. Too busy to participate in computered-based education

3. The course content must be delivered.....

A. By express mail

B. By using instructional media

C. By travelling a long distance of the instructor.

D. By any means of communication

4. The word "primarily" in line 7 can be best replaced by_____

A. mainly

B. partly

C. noisily

D. unimportantly

5. Telelectures and teleconferences allow for.....

A. No interactive instruction between the instructor and students
