Read the passage and choose the best answers.

Visitors to Vietnam should pay attention to the following advice.

Socializing

Vietnamese people like to ask questions about age, marriage, salary, etc when they meet someone for the first time. For example, they may ask, ‘How old are you?’, ‘Are you married?’, ‘What do you do for a living?’, ‘Do you have any children?’ Don’t be embarrassed by these kinds of questions. This is the Vietnamese way of being friendly.

Presents

Vietnamese people always show their gratitude when receiving a gift. However, you should not be surprised if they do not open a present you had given them immediately. Opening a present in front of the gift-giver is considered to be embarrassing.

Compliments

Although Vietnamese people always appreciate compliments, they are usually modest in their reactions. For example, in response to the compliment ‘What a nice dress!’ a Vietnamese girl may say, ‘I don’t think so. It’s very old.’

The elderly

Always show the elderly respect. Bowing your head slightly to an elderly person is a sign of respect. During a meal, elderly people should be served first.

1: Which questions do Vietnamese people often ask when they meet someone for the first time?

- A. questions about music

D. the rich people
- 3: Why don't Vietnamese people open presents immediately?
A. Because they feel bored with opening a present.
B. Because they don't like gift-givers.
C. Because they feel embarrassed to open a present in front of the gift-giver.
D. Because they don't like presents.
- 4: How do Vietnamese people react to compliments?
A. modestly
B. happily
C. excitedly
D. sadly
- 5: Which of the following is NOT true?
A. Vietnamese people often ask 'How old are you?' when they meet someone for the first time.
B. Vietnamese people don't appreciate compliments.
C. Vietnamese people always respect the elderly.
D. Vietnamese people ask questions about age, marriage, salary, etc to show their friendliness.

Read the passage and do the tasks that follow

Culture is the lens with which we evaluate everything around us; we evaluate what is proper or improper, normal or abnormal, through our culture.

If we are involved in a culture that is unlike our own, we may experience culture shock and become disoriented when we come into contact with a fundamentally different culture. People naturally use their own culture as the standard to judge other cultures. Having our own judgement could lead us to discriminate other cultural values which are different from our own because we do not understand them.

Culture diversity is important because we can increase our level of understanding about other cultures by interacting with people outside of your own culture- meaningful relationships may never develop simple due to a lack of understanding.

Learning about other cultures also helps us understand different aspects in the world, and helps remove negative stereotypes and personal biases about different groups.

In addition, culture diversity helps us recognize and respect other ways of life that are not necessary our own, so that as we interact with others we can build bridges to trust, respect, and understanding across cultures.

Culture diversity supports the idea that every person can make a unique and positive contribution to the larger society because of, rather than in spite of, their differences. Imagine a place where diversity is recognized and respected; various cultural ideas are acknowledged and valued, contributions from all groups are encouraged to achieve their full potential, and differences are celebrated.

Read the passage and do these following tasks.

While you may not think it at first, there are numerous cultural difference between the US and the UK that you will likely encounter.

In general, Americans are much more open than Britons. Friends and even acquaintances discuss personal thoughts and opinions that might seem private in the UK. Do not feel embarrassed if an American asks you a seemingly private question. He or she is most likely sincerely curious about your thoughts and feelings and is assuming you would like to share them.

You may learn more about your American friends than you wanted to know, or you may hear more childhood stories than you can care to listen to. Americans will be interested in your experiences and background as well since your upbringing may differ greatly from theirs. In addition to more frequent discussion about their personal lives, there is often a greater display of photographs, and posters in dorm rooms or office spaces.

The sense of humour differs from side of the Atlantic to the other. Americans tend to be less dry or sarcastic. Some Americans may feel offended if they do not understand your humour, but after a brief explanation they will be laughing along with you.

Americans tend to believe that individuals control their circumstances by how much they work. This work ethic is reflected in American attitudes towards academics. Don't be surprised if you meet students who spend a vast majority of their free time studying in the library.

Americans also tend to care much more for punctuality than their UK counterparts. Everything from classes to a lunch date is expected to start right on time. Along with punctuality, most Americans move at a faster pace than that in the UK. For example, dinners at a restaurant, even a sit-down restaurant, can be finished in under a half-hour. Additionally, you will not have to ask for the bill. It will be brought to you as soon as it is clear to your waiter or waitress that you are finished ordering more items.

1. Americans are more willing to share private matters with you because.....

- a. they would like to ask private questions about others.
  - b. they are more open and more curious about things about them.
  - c. they try to be more open than Britons in life.
  - d. they assume you would like to share everything with them.
2. One of the reasons why Americans are interested in your experiences and background is that .....
- a. they would like to tell their childhood stories more than you care to listen to
  - b. they would like to show you their photographs, and posters.
  - c. they would like to know about a different upbringing than theirs.
  - d. they would like to talk more about their personal lives than anything else.
3. The Americans attitudes toward work or study are that.....
- a. they spend their free time studying anywhere.
  - b. individuals should control their behaviors and free time.
  - c. they move at a faster pace than in the UK.
  - d. they attach more importance to the load of work.
4. All of the following about Americans are right EXCEPT .....
- a. most Americans walk faster than those in the UK.
  - b. they tend to be more punctual than Britons.
  - c. their sense of humour is different from than that of Britons.

Read the following passage and choose the best answer.

It's always thought that women are the (1) _____ class in citizen, and men are the first. There is not a real equality of opportunity for men and women. Years ago, people were living in a man- dominated society. Women had (2) _____ their husbands and fathers absolutely. Women's place was in the kitchen and women's work was housework. In many places, women were not even allowed to go to school. Women had no rights, even the right to choose a husband for themselves. Men usually occupied high positions in society so they thought they were more intelligent and important (3)_____ women. Men considered women their property. Sometimes, women were mistreated by their husbands and suffered this as a fate. Many parents did not even want to have female children.

Thanks (4)_____ the women's liberation movement, women have nowadays proved that they are equal to men on every aspect. An average woman has weaker muscles than an average man but she may be as intelligent as him. Women can do everything that men can and women can do one thing that no men can; they (5)_____ children.
