prepare herself. She made notes of what might be asked and of what she wanted to ask.
When the day came, she arrived half an hour early. There were six other people waiting to b interviewed. They all looked much more confident than she did, She began to feel even more nervous One by one was called. Each of them came out and looked satisfied. Suzanne was the last one to b called into the interview room. She had decided by that time that she had no chance of getting the job so she felt relaxed as she walked in; she felt that she had nothing to lose.
The three interviewers were all very serious and they didn't seem to be interested in her. Sh forgot all the answers she had prepared and said the first thing that came into her head. Two days later she got a letter telling her she had been chosen because she had been the only one who had acte naturally.

Camping holidays are always popular with students and young people – they are a cheap and easy way to see a country. People often travel by train, by coach or on foot, so one thing is important to remember before starting: you can only take with you what you can carry – usually in a rucksack on your back. If you travel with a friend, of course some items can be shared – a tent, a gas stove, food. Other things must be taken by each person – clothes, footwear, a sleeping bag.

So you must be sure of how much you can carry. Most people find 10 kg about right. Much more than that and you need another holiday when you get home! And remember when the weather is wet your rucksack is heavier.

Many people who go camping for the first time take too much and the find they have forgotten the essentials – a tin of beans is no good without a tin opener! But with practice and good advice you can have a fantastic holidays.

Questions:

THE NEWS MEDIA

News media are the means or methods by which people learn what is happening in the city, in the country, and in the world. The news media can be classified into two general categories of print media and electronic media.

Print media use the written material to communicate news to readers. Electronic media use radio waves to send news into magazines and newspapers. Most newspapers print news daily. For example, the newspapers "The New York Time" is published weekly, the Newsweek and Times magazines are published once a week. The electronic media are generally divide into radio and television. Radio news is the one that you listen to. In the United States, many radio stations broadcast five minutes of news every hour Television news is the one that you not only listen to but also watch it. In Canada and the United States, for example, many people watch an hour of news on TV at six o'clock in the evening. In the future new categories of new media will develop. Even today computers are beginning to influence the transmission and reception of news.

1. What does new media help people to do?

2. How many groups can the media be arranged? What are they?

2. villagers

3. How many minutes per hour is the news broadcasted in the United States?
4. Are the computers beginning to influence the transmission and reception of news?

III. READING: Read the passage and then answer the following questions: (2 pts)
The country is more beautiful than a town and more pleasant to live in. Many people think so, and go to the country for the summer holidays though they cannot live there all the year round. Some have a cottage build in a village so that they can go there whenever they can find the time.
English villages are not all alike, but in some ways they are not very different from one another. Almost every village has a church, the round or square tower of which can be seen from many miles around. Surrounding the church is the churchyard, there people are buried.
The village green is a wide stretch of grass, and houses or cottages are built round it. Country life is now fairly comfortable and many villages have water brought through pipes into each house. Most villages are so close to some small towns that people can go there to buy what they can't find in the village shops. 1. When do city people often go the country?
2. What is the advantage of city people when they have a cottage built in the village?
3. What is the common feature of English villages?
4. What can villages do when their villages are close to small towns?

IV. Read the text carefully, then answer the questions below.

More and more often, the term global village is used to describe the world and its people. In a typical village, however, everyone knows everyone else and the people face the same kinds of problems. How can the world be a village, when it is home to almost 6 billion people? Technological changes in the past century have made the global village possible.

Technologically, the greatest contributor to the global village is the microchip- an electronic circuit on a tiny chip. The microchip has made satellites and computers possible. These forms of high-tech communications allow news and ideas to travel quickly from country to country, making people aware of their neighbours around the globe in dramatic new ways. Through the Internet, we can get information from computers anywhere and carry on electronic conservations with people everywhere. Through television programmes transmitted by satellite, we are exposed to many cultures.

What will happen as we move into the twenty-first century and beyond? Almost certainly the development of the global village will continue. Not only is this possible, but the challenges that the world faces – for example, pollution, population growth, and conflicts among peoples – will make it necessary.
